The GLOBALG.A.P. Chain of Custody (CoC) standard ensures that any product bearing a GGN label logo or sold with a GLOBALG.A.P. claim is truly sourced from a GLOBALG.A.P. certified production process. The standard requirements secure the segregation, traceability, and therefore integrity of your product’s GLOBALG.A.P. certification status throughout its lifecycle from farm to consumer.

Applicable to plants, aquaculture, and compound feed products for animals, CoC is an essential tool for any company handling or trading in products originating from GLOBALG.A.P. certified production processes — from producers, packers, and traders to processors, logistics, and retailers. It is tried, tested, and trusted across the globe with certificate holders operating in 50 countries.

COC requirements for supply chains are changing from 1 January 2023. Visit www.globalgap.org/coc or scan the code to read the announcement.

CoC certification safeguards transparency along supply chains, reduces the risk of food fraud, and enables a quick response if problems arise. This adds value to your brand in the market and provides reassurance to your customers.